Document Updates/Consolidation

- Over the last few months the FR PMO has done a deep scrub on all of our publicly facing websites and documentation.
- Major Process Document Updates include:
 - CSP Authorization Playbook
 - Agency Authorization Playbook
 - Continuous Monitoring Playbook

<https://fedramp.gov/docs/rev5>

Website Updates

- Lastly, there have been updates to the Public roadmap to reflect changes in timelines due to the Government shutdown

- As changes are being made across our websites we are keeping a public changelog
 - <https://www.fedramp.gov/changelog/>
- If you find any errors, please email us at info@fedramp.gov

BIR Updates

- FR Website updated to include its own BIR Section
 - broken down by mandatory and optional
 - Implementation dates and applicability are explicitly identified for each BIR

Recommended Secure Configuration

Effective Date(s) & Overall Applicability for Rev5

- Required (Wide Release) beginning 2026-03-01.
- These requirements apply after March 1, 2026, to all FedRAMP Rev5 cloud services that are listed in the FedRAMP Marketplace.
- This process supplements the Customer Responsibilities Matrix and other existing materials - all existing Rev5 materials are still required to be maintained.
- FedRAMP does not provide a specific template for the information required in this guidance to enable cloud service providers to share innovative solutions. As long as all requirements and recommendations in this document are addressed, providers are encouraged to share their Recommended Secure Configuration information in a way that makes the most sense for them and their customers.

Mandatory Adoption for Rev5

Mandatory BIRs

- FedRAMP Security Inbox
 - Applicability: All Rev5
 - Implementation Date: 5 January, 2026  planned test in Feb
 - <https://www.fedramp.gov/docs/rev5/balance/fedramp-security-inbox/>
 - Recommended Secure Configuration
 - Applicability: All Rev5
 - Implementation Date: 1 March , 2026
 - <https://www.fedramp.gov/docs/rev5/balance/recommended-secure-configuration/>
 - Before reaching out to the PMO with questions or concerns, please ensure you have read the requirement, especially the “MUST” and “SHOULD” portions
